

CORNELIA STONE JAMES

4/6/30 - 5/30/89

Cornelia Stone James lived a life of relationship and was much beloved by a wide circle of family and friends. Friends from the Oratorio Society remember her charm with fondness. Her many friends from The Journal of Biological Chemistry, where she worked, treasured her warmth and never-failing wit. To those from her childhood, she remained a stalwart friend. Her friends at The Science of the Mind Church much valued her great warmth and serenity. For her husband and children, and other members of her large family, Cornelia was indeed a beloved presence.

Together with her life of relationship, Cornelia maintained a love of the arts throughout her life. Singing in The Oratorio Society with her husband, Stanley, had great meaning for her. Writing, and literature, were important to her, and she used her writing talents in her work at The Journal of Biological Chemistry.

Cornelia James will be greatly missed, but her serenity and warmth will remain an inspiration in the memory of those who knew her.
